

RELIEF

Work is Well in Hand at Kansas City.

Lack of Water Supply is the Most Serious Question.

Flood Reaches St. Louis Where the River is Hourly Growing Higher—Improved Conditions at Salina and Other Points in Kansas.

Kansas City, Mo., June 3—The greatest strain has passed and if the precautions taken against fire continue as effective as they have been, the industrial revival will continue apace. The lack of water supply is still the most serious question. Gas for fuel and lighting seem adequate. A partial street car system is in operation.

No further loss of life by the flood is expected and the relief work for the destitute is well in hand.

Business men are adapting themselves remarkably to the changed conditions. The packers and the dealers in agricultural implements, wholesale merchants from the flooded districts, are opening up-town executive offices as fast as quarters can be secured. Hauling water to what plants are in operation is fairly well systemized. The determination of the bodies authorized to speak for the city not to ask for outside aid, meets with universal approval. The post office is now swamped by mail, both in and out.

There were two mail deliveries today. A regular boat service is in operation to Kansas City, Kansas. Conditions there are improving hourly. There is plenty of food now that the packing house coolers can be reached and with regular train service to Fort Leavenworth danger from famine has passed.

The lawless element is completely under control. Over a million and a quarter in cash and sight exchange is in the vaults in the Inter State National Bank in the west bottoms of Kansas City, and it is reasonable to estimate that another million in cash is in the flooded safes of smaller banks, express companies, railroad offices, stock yards firms and merchants. The only boats in the flooded district are under the control of the police.

The Missouri river stood at 34.4 at 7 a. m. today on the official gauge, a fall of six tenths over night. Misty rain continues with intermittent showers today.

CONDITIONS AT SALINA.

Salina, Kansas, June 3—Business is beginning to pick up. The Union Pacific is keeping open its line to Denver via Ellsworth. While all but four blocks of the town was under water the losses will be smaller even than was shown by the conservative estimates made after the crest of the flood had passed. The river will run its old channel here.

PASSENGERS RESCUED.

Kansas City, Mo., June 3—A steamer brought in last night 67 passengers taken from the Randolph end of the Milwaukee railroad bridge five miles below here. The majority of the rescued persons were passengers from a Burlington train from Chicago due here Sunday and passengers from a St. Joseph and Grand Island train due at the same time.

The Burlington passenger train referred to above is the train reported missing and which it was feared it had been lost in the flood.

IOWA CONDITIONS TODAY.

Des Moines, Ia., June 3—At Atlantic two families were discovered marooned in the Nashua river which is two miles wide at that place. They had been without food or drinking water for five days and were forced to occupy cramped positions on tables. The decline of the river at Ottumwa and other points below has emphasized the extent of the desolation and the need of relief to thousands of refugees who are not only homeless, but are being decimated by disease. HERE'S THE SLATE.

Columbus, O., June 3—The state Republican convention will not be called to order until 4 p. m. today, when Senator Hanna will sound the keynote.

Here is a forecast of tomorrow's nominations by the Republican convention: For governor, Myron T. Herrick of Cleveland; for lieutenant governor, M. M. Boothman of Bryan, or Warren C. Harding of Marion; for auditor of state, Walter D. Gilbert of Noble county; treasurer of state, W. S. McKinnon of Ashtabula; attorney general, Wade H. Ellis, of Cincinnati; supreme judge, A. N. Summers of Springfield; school commissioner, L. D. Bonebrake of Mt. Vernon; member of the board of public works, George H. Watkins of Pike county.

Hanna and Cox are agreed upon Herrick, Gilbert, Ellis, Summers and Watkins.

CLEVELAND

Leases Sweet House in Turlington, Mass., for the Summer—Prefers It to Buzzard's Bay.

Pittsfield, Mass., June 3—Former President Grover Cleveland has leased "Sweet House," in Turlington, which is between Four Brooks farm owned by Richard Watson Gillis, editor of the Century, and Riverside Inn, of which L. B. Moore is the proprietor. His house has been undergoing extensive repairs during the past few weeks. Current gossip runs that Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland prefer to come to Berkshire this summer rather than Buzzard's Bay, on account of the expected arrival of the storm.

Ten Year Old Girl is Being Sent to Alaska—She Has Reached San Francisco Safely.

New York, June 3—Emily Bremmel, aged 10, is making the trip alone from Perth Amboy, the town of her birth, to the home of her aunt in Nome, Alaska. She is traveling by express and her relatives in New Brunswick, N. J., have received word that she has arrived safely at San Francisco. The trip was arranged for by Pennsylvania railroad officials, who guaranteed safe delivery. She was ticketed from point to point in care of different railroads.

All day it has gone up rapidly, covering the levee, the railroad tracks and the lower lumber yards, stopping boat traffic and fully filling the basements of the offices on the first street back of the levee.

A rise of two feet a day for several days is regarded as absolutely sure, and it is predicted that the high water mark will not be less than 36 feet.

This will mean disastrous losses to merchants and other business men, and to the railroads along the river front.

Masses of driftwood, debris of houses, bridges and railroad property, corpses of men, women and children, dead cattle, horses, hogs, sheep and poultry were hurled along at the rate of seven miles an hour, now appearing for a moment on the surface of the muddy waters, now lost to view of the fascinated thousands who watched all day from the top of the levee.

HERRICK

WILL PROBABLY BE NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION.

Gilliett Has Hanna's Old Rooms, and the Newark Crowd is Making Itself Heard.

Columbus, O., June 3—Expectation today is that Col. Myron Herrick of Cleveland will be nominated for the Governor by the Republicans tomorrow by acclamation. The situation regarding W. G. Harding of Marion for Lieutenant Governor is unchanged. Senator Hanna still says today that Harding must make his own fight and Boothman stock is looking up.

The Buckeye Lake special from Newark bringing the Gillett boomers and the Buckeye band arrived at 10 o'clock and the Newark men are making the Colonel's candidacy rather prominent.

They are asking for Gillett's nomination for state auditor on the plea of no third termism, holding that Mr. Gillett's 16 years in office ought to be enough for one man.

Bills are about town today asking the delegates not to jeopardize the re-election of Hanna by foisting third terms on the ticket.

MAY

Call Miners Out On Strike

It Would Make 147,000 Men Idle

DARK CLOUD LOOMS UP ON THE HORIZON

OFFICIALS ARE DISPLEASED

Because the Operators Have Failed to Recognize the Men they Selected to Represent Them.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 3—The United Mine Workers state today that unless the operators agree to meet the mine workers representatives they will stop work.

This would make 147,000 men idle. The executive boards of the mine workers will meet again today and further discuss the question.

Another dark strike cloud has loomed up on the horizon of the anthracite coal region.

The executive boards of the United Mine Workers at their session indorsed the selection of their three District Presidents on the Board of Conciliation, authorized by Strike Commission and if these members are not recognized by operators the Executive Boards will contemplate calling a convention of mine workers to declare a general suspension of work until their members are given recognition.

The District Presidents, as a result of the meeting, issued the following statement on the dispute:

"At a joint meeting of the Executive Boards of the anthracite region here the members selected to represent the mine workers of each district on the Conciliation Board reported that the representatives of the operators refused to recognize them or the mine workers' credentials, or accept them as members of the Conciliation Board.

They reported that the operators objected on the ground that the mine workers' representatives were appointed by their organizations as it exists in each district. The award of the commission relative to the manner of selecting the members of the Conciliation Board provides as follows: That is to say, if there shall be a division of the whole region into three districts, in each of which there shall exist an organization, representing a majority of the mine workers of each district, one member of said Boards of Conciliation shall be appointed by each of said organizations, and three other persons shall be appointed by the operators, the operators in each of said districts appointing one person.

The district boards are still of the opinion that they appointed their representatives as provided for by the section of the award and voted unanimously to reaffirm their former action. The district officers have been exceedingly anxious to have the Conciliation Board form and meet for the purpose of adjusting many grievances which have accumulated, and to this end have been bending their energies. The officers have advised where grievances arose that the men not strike and where strikes occurred ordered them back to work, pending a decision by the Conciliation Board, which they hoped would soon be formed in accordance with the commission's award. Two questions were under consideration by the meeting today—one is to make a plea to the National President of the mine workers to issue an order for a general suspension of work throughout the whole anthracite region, to continue until the operators agree to adjust existing grievances and live up to the award of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission; the second is that a delegate convention be called to consider the advisability of taking the above action."

Another meeting will be held today to decide as to whether a suspension of work shall be ordered.

District Presidents Nichols and Farny intimate that the Executive Board of the mine workers will stand by their decision and will insist that their members of the Conciliation Board be recognized.

A district officer, when asked if the objections of the officers could not be removed if the mine workers selected their representatives on the board by a majority vote of miners, replied that it was not likely such a step would be taken. If the operators demanded that, he said, the miners had as much right to ask that the company representatives be selected by a vote of the stockholders.

"Will the miners quit work if they are called out?" was asked.

"Yes, every man will come out. The 30,000 men in the Schuylkill region whom we ordered back to work will not hesitate to come out again, and there are acute grievances in every region which will cause a suspension if such a step is decided upon. The district officers have counseled the miners to remain at work pending the settlement of the trouble by the Conciliation Board, but if this board cannot be offered there is nothing else for them to do but quit."

National President Mitchell believes that the miner representatives of the board are legally chosen, and as the district officers have just returned from a conference with him at Buffalo

Guard About Jackson Jail Had Another Fight Last Night—An Extra Heavy Guard Placed Around The Bastile by the Court.

Jackson, Ky., June 3—Court convened at 8:30 o'clock this morning. A volley was turned loose not fifty yards from the jail, and the bullets whistled nearby. The guard was called into action and stood in readiness, while a scouting party of five men was sent out to locate the enemy. The shooting ceased, and evidently the men who had been causing the disturbance skulked away, intending only to annoy the soldiers. The incident served to keep the jail guard active during the night. An extra heavy guard has been placed about the jail because this is believed to be the critical time, the court being on the point of removing Curt Jett and Tom White to some other place for safe keeping.

A strong guard is again maintained at the homes of Mrs. Sarah Patrick and Mrs. J. B. Marcum. A guard is also pacing in front of Hargis Brothers' store. Captain John Patrick, the principal witness in the case against Jett for the assassination of Jim Cockrell, went to Lexington last night. Captain B. J. Ewen, the principal witness for the prosecution in the case against Jett and White for the assassination of J. B. Marcum, is still absent from his home.

Many Injured In Georgia Cyclone Will Die

Thousands are Without Clothing—Homeless They Wander Through the Streets Till Shelter Can Be Provided For Them

Gainesville, Ga., June 3—Aside from the Galveston flood the South has never seen such a heartrending sight as Gainesville presents. There are over a hundred corpses awaiting burial and these corpses represent almost as many families.

There are 1000 laboring people homeless, without even enough clothing to protect them from the cold winds and drizzling rain. Four hundred are seriously injured and a great part of them cannot hope to live through the week. The city has called on the secretary of war to furnish tents and thirty days' rations for 1000 homeless.

Various committees have been appointed to relieve the suffering of the wounded and dying, to bury the dead, and feed and clothe the hungry and naked. Coffins and caskets have been coming in all day from neighboring towns, and over a score of the victims were buried yesterday afternoon and today the others were laid to rest.

The local militia are patrolling the streets while hundreds of idle men and women throng the streets and remain here and there. The cyclone struck the fifth floor, which fell with a crash, carrying the roof, floor and ponderous machinery to the floor below. On this floor it is estimated that thirty-three were killed.

Pacific Company's Steamer "Arequipa" Sinks Near Valparaiso, Chili, Where a Fearful Storm Has Been Raging for Several Days—Other Ships Wrecked in the Hurricane.

London, June 3—Lloyd's received a dispatch today from Valparaiso, Chili, reporting the loss of the Pacific Steam Navigation company's steamer, "Arequipa," and 80 persons aboard, passengers and crew.

A terrific gale has prevailed for days along the Chilian coast. Several big and scores of small boats have been wrecked in the harbor and Valparaiso itself has suffered extensively. Dispatches received in other quarters state that Captain Tod tried to save his ship "Arequipa" by running out to sea. The storm was too severe and the steamer foundered. So far as is known not a soul was saved. Other ships wrecked in the storm were: The British ship "Foydale," German bark "Persia" and a Chilian bark. The "Foydale" was dashed against the breakwater and went to pieces. Six of the crew and the Captain's wife and son were lost. The "Persia" and the "Chilian bark" went to pieces near the "Foydale." Two of her men were drowned. The "Persia" was seriously damaged but may be saved. Her crew is safe.

COMMENCEMENT

At Hartford High School Tuesday—Only Two Graduates Owing to Extension of Course.

Croton, O., June 3—The annual commencement of the Hartford High School which took place from the Congregational church Tuesday evening was a grand success, though the class only numbered two on account of the extension of the course of study from a twelve year to a thirteen year course. Grover Tedrick Mitchel and Fred A. Forgraves composed the class and did credit to our schools and honor to themselves in the manner in which they handled their subjects commencement evening.

The alumni gave a banquet at the Hotel Benoy after the exercises which was nicely carried out for the pleasure and entertainment of all present. The Smith Sisters of Delaware furnished the music for the occasion, which was well received and appreciated.

Decoration Day was very appropriately observed. The G. A. R. from Centerburg assisted by the old veterans here marched to the cemetery and decorated the graves of the fallen heroes buried here of whom there are seventeen. Then assembling in the M. E. church, which was filled to overflowing a short program was rendered, consisting of recitations, patriotic songs and an address by Rev. Russel Clem, which was highly appreciated.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers; they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

GRANVILLE

Enjoyable Recital Under Direction of Miss Jennie Blinn—Betas Wearing Class Colors.

Granville, O., June 3—Probably the most enjoyable recital of the year was the Song Recital given on Tuesday evening in Recital hall under the direction of Miss Jennie E. Blinn of the Conservatory of Music. On account of the reunion of the ex-prisoners of war, which was held on the same evening, the audience was not as large as it would otherwise have been, but it was a very appreciative and enthusiastic one nevertheless, and all were exceedingly well pleased with the entertainment, and Miss Blinn's success in her department should certainly be commended. Quite a number of Newark people were in attendance at the recital, and were exceedingly well pleased with efforts of the pupils.

Those who took part in the program were: Thomas Phillips, Don Powers, Eleanor Thomas, Pearl Ferguson, Ernest Shepardson, Grace Harford, Elsie Hirschberg, Grace Harford, Alice Adams and Miss Edna Stranahan.

The members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity are wearing their colors, the pink and blue, having pledged to their number Graham Beckel of the academy.

This year's Adyutum was distributed on Tuesday afternoon. In its general make up it is far above the average, and is meeting with much approval.

FAILURE

Was This Stranger's Effort to Do a Little "Bootleg" Business at Granville.

Granville, O., June 3—Granville is ordinarily a "dry" town, but it was "wet" yesterday, at least to the extent of five dozen half pints.

During the day a stranger got off the interurban from Newark, carrying a large grip sack and another "package" which was carried in another way. He had evidently figured it out that as Granville was a local option town, a bit of liquor disposed of on the bootleg plan would be welcomed by some of the ex-prisoners of war who are holding their annual reunion here.

He brought sixty small bottles, but in getting off the car he slipped and broke a bottle or two. Some of the boys smelled the whisky and forthwith decided to have some fun and the whiskey at the same time. Watching for a chance one of the fellows got away with the whole gripsack, the contents of which were retailed without price about town. The last seen of the stranger was towards evening, when he was found lying on the stone wall surrounding the old cemetery, fast asleep and dead drunk.

TO JAIL

HALL WAS SENT IN DEFAULT OF BAIL.

Sunbury Justice Fixed the Amount at $1000, Which Was Too High for Hall to Raise.

Delaware, O., June 3—As announced in a special dispatch to the Advocate yesterday, Robert A. Hall, who was arrested in Zanesville, was given a hearing late yesterday afternoon on the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses.

Hall had his preliminary hearing in Sunbury, before Squire L. A. Ports, and was sent to jail in default of $1,000 bail. M. McDonald of Canada and Hall operated in Zanesville under the firm name of McDonald & Hall, wholesale dealers in general produce and tea, buying goods in small quantities and remitting for the same. Subsequently orders were larger, and the largest orders were never paid, it is said. The Sunbury Creamery claims it was defrauded out of $450 worth of butter. It is claimed that wholesalers in this section of the country have been swindled out of thousands.

NO CLEW YET TO

HICKS' ASSASSIN

Wooster, O., June 3—The authorities are still at sea for a clew to the assassin who killed Professor John F. Hicks as he was leaving the home of his fiance, Miss Mary Gill.

At the coroner's inquest Miss Gill was the principal witness. The only new testimony developed was the fact that there were two men seen about the house, one of whom wore a stiff hat and the other a straw, and that it was the latter who fired the fatal shot.

The county commissioners last evening offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty person.

Charles Hicks, a brother, reached the church and will take the body to Hicksville, Long Island, for burial.

An Ohio Combine.

Chicago, June 3—Announcement is made of the organization of the Canada Groceries company (limited) having a capital of $5,000,000, and headquarters at Toronto. This company includes nearly all of the large grocery concerns in Canada, and was organized by Frank C. Letts, of Chicago, who is vice president of the Western Grocer company, which owns and operates a number of grocery stores throughout the Northwest. Mr. Letts also announced the approaching completion of the Ohio Grocery combine, which is to be capitalized at $10,000,000. According to Mr. Letts it is now only a question of selecting the Ohio houses which they desire to take in.

CONQUERING THE DESERT.

Scientific Methods Steadily Pushing Back the Arid Line.

In the nineties a wave of population flowed westward over the great plains of the Missouri valley. It was composed of farmers who tried to raise crops by natural rainfall in the old fashioned way. The attempt was a failure west of the middle of Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, and the wave receded, leaving ruin in its track. Now, as Mr. Charles Moreau Hering shows in the Review of Reviews, there is a hopeful attempt to push back the arid line by scientific methods. Of course irrigation will permanently conquer the desert, but even without irrigation it has been shown that new methods of cultivation will turn a semiarid into a productive region.

A South Dakota farmer, Mr. H. W. Campbell, has introduced the plan of very deep plowing, packing the bottom of the furrow with specially constructed implements and thoroughly cultivating the surface. In this way the moisture that falls is preserved just where the roots of the plant can get at it. Mr. Campbell has raised 142 bushels of potatoes an acre where the crops of his neighbors were failures.

There are certain crops, moreover, such as alfalfa, sorghum and Kafir corn, which do not require much rainfall. By the use of these and the new methods of cultivation this arid line is being steadily pushed back, and every mile it recedes means the addition of 640,000 acres to the fertile land of the west.

Literature and Matrimony.

It has recently been proved that although feminine independence, authorship and matrimony are each great in their way, yet the greatest of these is matrimony. The world had no sooner recovered from its surprise at Miss Wilkins' marriage than the news arrived that Miss Alice Hegan of "Cabbage Patch" fame, who dedicated her last book to one Mr. Rice, who had helped her to "discover roses growing among cabbages," had married this insipid, and now comes the intelligence that Miss Josephine Dodge Daskam, author of a recent book on "Middle Aged Loves," had decided to take a middle aged husband.

Henry James once wrote a story, "The Lesson of the Master," to prove that no man could be a perfect artist if he took to himself a wife. "Woman," said the master, "are themselves the sacrifice. They're the idol and the altar and the flame." No one has tried to prove that a woman may not marry and at the same time remain an artist. And one fact shines clear in the midst of matrimonial and literary confusion, that men, even when all other offices have been wrested from them, may still perform valuable services as inspirers of literature.—Chicago Tribune.

The county commissioners last evening offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the guilty person.

Charles Hicks, a brother, reached the church and will take the body to Hicksville, Long Island, for burial.

The "Tree of Life."

The expression "tree of life" has more than a Biblical or a symbolic meaning, according to modern science. All animal life upon this planet is dependent upon the green iron containing substance called "chlorophyll," which gives their summer colorings to trees, grass and shrubs. Green, not blood red, is the life color.

English scientists have figured out that such schemes as Sir Oliver Lodge's proposed reforestation of the English black country would help to eke out the 3,000,000 of years for which astronomers tell us the sun will continue to make animal life possible.

Disastrous forest fires in the Adirondacks are, upon this view of the matter, a species of "race suicide," and the proposed new undertaking of the United States government to study the prevention of forest waste is the most direct work of self preservation.

Katatypy.

Katatypy, the new method in photography, is described as follows: "Over the finished negative is poured a solution of hydro superoxide. This leaves, after evaporation, a uniform layer of peroxide of hydrogen. Soon the silver of the plate works upon this peroxide and produces a catalytic dissolution wherever there is silver, while in the places free from silver the peroxide remains. By this means an invisible picture of hydro superoxide is produced upon the plate. This picture can be printed from the plate directly upon common paper, to which the image is of the digestive functions.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT SCAN-DALS.

Postmaster General Payne's stigmatizing of the mass of accusations resting against his department as "hot air" and "glittering generalities" has recalled like the petard that hoisted its own engineer. He must have meant that the crop of scandals being harvested will require most laborious and many stump speeches to make it marketable among Republicans, who hold to honesty in the conduct of official business, and resent the flippancy of Mr. Heath, who asserted that he was "put into the department to perform certain things and he did his duty." The Tulloch charges are under anxious investigation, but before the shock caused by them had been quieted under the soporific tossed out by the "practical politician" from Wisconsin, another sensation breaks loose when arrests of an advisory counsel in the department and his accused briber in Indiana are made, and names of intended further arrests are publicly announced.

The public is now convinced that the Indiana clique was a band of conspirators brazenly violating law to add to their already high salaries the profits of transactions on the side in the matter of selling names of patrons along rural delivery routes and bribes paid to admit fraudulent concerns to the privileges of the mails. The first order in behalf of a turf investment company was signed by the departing Tyner on December 4, and so eager were the traffickers in postal affairs that the reversal of the order permitting a self-confessed swindling company to receive letters was signed six days afterward. The checks signed by the admitted briber are in the hands of General Bristow.

The more these scandals are brought into the open, the more the people will demand that the rumored breach between the president and his postmaster general, who tried to scotch the investigation, shall become an uncrossable chasm.

THE CANAL

M. SMYTHE WANTS OLD WATER-
WAY IMPROVED.Is There Any Reason Why Newark
Should Not Want a Ship Canal
Through Town?

(Communicated.)

I read with pleasure the article which appeared in the Advocate of last evening over the signature of John David Jones. Judge Jones has expressed the sentiment of every citizen who is not interested in other modes of transportation which a ship canal would provide. Steam railroads and traction companies, no doubt, with all their influence, will oppose the competition to their business, which water way would create, but all people who are not connected with these corporations are interested in creating and maintaining such competition. Competition is not only the life of trade, but it is also about the only protection the people have against the extortion of carrying companies. The hope that many persons have indulged in, that the building of traction roads would hold in check the stealing propensities of steam railroad companies, may be wasted hope in view of the probability of combination between such companies, but if a ship canal be built and maintained by the government the presumption is that it would be managed independently of private corporations and in the interest of the people. If it should not be so managed the people could correct the evil by voting out of office the persons or party found guilty of mismanagement.

Is there any reason why the people of Newark should not encourage the state to rebuild this old water way by the construction of a ship canal? To do so would add vastly to the beauty and prosperity of the city and the expense of building and maintaining it would be borne by the state.

If anybody can give an answer to this question please do so.

B. G. SMYTHE.

THREATENS

To Put Lunatics on Train and Carry Them to the Office of Governor Nash.

Cleveland, O., June 3—If state officials do not arrange to care for the insane patients at the infirmary within a reasonable time Cleveland officials threaten to load the 250 unfortunates into a special train and turn them over to the Governor in Columbus.

"The only thing that appeals to me just now," said Superintendent Emde, of the infirmary, "is to charter a special train, take the insane to Columbus, march them down High street, some in carriages and some on foot and take them into the state house, where they belong. The thing to do is to dump them into the Governor's quarters, and, being wards of the state it is up to the state to care for them.

"This special train idea is no idle dream. I will give the state sufficient time to take them off our hands. If nothing is done within the time limit the train will be chartered. There is nothing else left to do, for we are breaking the law every day. I guarantee to take the 270 insane to Columbus at an expense of $350. Unless we hear from Governor Nash soon I will do it."

MAN

By Zee Anderson Norris

Copyright, 1902, by Zee Anderson Norris

"Is that you, Liza?" queried Mrs. Simpson, rousing from her nap in the armchair by the widow. "Come in and shut the door. There's a terrible draft somewhere, and I'm sort of 'fraid of rheumatism. It comes on about this time of the year, and once it grips you there's no gettin' rid of it."

"Take that rockin' chair over there. Comfortable, is it? If 'tain't there's another just back of it. Come to condole with me 'bout losin' Jonathan, eh?"

"Not exactly condole," corrected Liza apologetically. "Tain't like as if he was dead now, is it?"

"mighty near it," nodded Mrs. Simpson; "mighty near it. When a only son goes off and gets married, his mother's lost him pretty much the same as if he'd died and bin buried, and that's true as gospel."

Liza broke the pause, which began to show symptoms of lasting.

"How did it happen?" questioned she.

Mrs. Simpson, raising her head, looked at her over her glasses.

"It all come," declared she sharply, "of that physical culticher foolishness what Jonathan got so wrapped up in last spring he wa'n't to say, fittin' for nothin' else in the world, seemed like. That's how it come."

Liza moved up a peg.

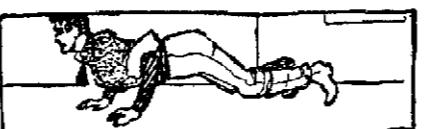

"How was that?" she questioned further. "I've heard say as how physical culticher was goin' to be the renovatin' of the world, Susan. Surely it couldn't 'a' bin that what made him commit matrimony, could it?"

"That," snapped Mrs. Simpson, "and nothin' else."

There was a second pause, during which Liza endeavored to the best of her ability to digest the substance of this theory.

In the meantime, taking a step from the basket at her feet, Mrs. Simpson had thrust a ball into it, grasped it firmly at the heel and commenced to darn.

"You see, it was like this," she began by and by. "Jonathan, he found a magazine one day or somebody gave it to him—things like that spread the same as smallpox; you never know just how—and that magazine was all about this here physical culticher some people is goin' mad over. He set down and read it till he'd read it through. Then he looked at me sort of vacant-like, and from the expression of his eyes I knew somethin' unusual was goin' to happen. He hardly took time to finish the last page when he slips to his room, and I, followin' him stealthy, peeps in and spies him sprawled on the floor tryin' to raise himself up on his hands and toes and let himself down again. I starts back surprised.

THAT, AND NOTHIN' ELSE."

thinkin' as how he had lost his mind or somethin', when what does he do but spring up all of a sudden and fling his two arms straight into the air as if they'd bin skyrockets, let 'em down, throw 'em out sideways, flop 'em against his sides till you could a'most hear his ribs crack, a-repeatin' this performance and a-keepin' it up till he looked for all the world like that windmill on Sam Johnston's farm when he sets it a-goin' and the wind is at its heartiest a-wurlin' it round.

"For the Law's sake, Jonathan!" I cries. I couldn't keep in no longer for the life of me, thinkin' as he'd lost his mind. "What be you a-doin'?"

"With that he turns round at me travelin' and says: 'Notin', ma; only I'm takin' up physical culticher,' addin' solemn and impressive. 'I'm goin' to make myself a perfect man.'

She broke off the thread with a jerk, took a ball of cotton from the basket, whirled another long thread off it, thrust it through the needle and once more darned.

"Maybe you think I didn't get good and tired of hearin' as how he was goin' to make himself a perfect man," she asserted presently. "A perfect man! It's all right, Liza, and I ain't sayin' nothin' ag'in it, for them old Roman people what didn't have nothin' in else at all to do go about bathin' and breathin' and exercisin', a-turnin' of themselves into perfect men, but with everything on the farm goin' to the dogs it was different."

The thread broke again. This time, contrary to all established rules of darning, she knotted it.

"Ump!" And extravagant! When he'd bought about everything he could buy in this here town he sent to New York for more poles and bars and straps and trapezes to litter up the house with. And that wasn't all. Pret' soon here come letters—one every mornin', Jonathan, if you please, takin' lessons in physical culticher from Scientific American or other thang in New York! what had run out of everything else to do and gone to teachin' people how to make idiots of them-selves.

"Then, if you could a' seen this house! Directions pasted up everywhere. Little pictures of men in short pants and nothin' else to speak of goin' through all sorts of contortionin's with ropes and sticks and things, a-turnin' of themselves into perfect men. And Jonathan, with the corn goin' to ruin, ready to stack and no-body to stack it, standin' on one foot, his hand high on the wall, raisin' his weight on the tiptoe of the other eight times in succession, accordin' to instructions printed large and stuck on the wall, a-disfigurin' of the wall paper; then changin' back to the other foot ag'in; graspin' a bar with hands about sixteen inches apart, accordin' to instructions, slowly bringin' the bar's near's possible to the floor, bendin' the body to the hips and tensin' all the muscles when he riz ag'in to a standin' position and flung that there old bar into the air.

"All to slow music, he said it oughter be done, givin' sort of over not havin' in the music, till I got to kind of feelin' that I'd oughter quit my dishwashin' and hire a piano and learn to play somethin' or other for him to handle them bars by, old as I am."

There was silence for a space.

"When he wa'n't doin' nothin' else," she resumed then, "he was breathin'. Breathin'! So was I, but I was hard at work scrubbin' or sweepin' or washin' clo'es or dustin' at the same time.

"What's the world comin' to, I'd like to know," she sniffed, "when people take to stoppin' work to breathe?"

"Things got from bad to worse. First I knew here come big packages from New York what Jonathan opened with a hatchet and grins and didn't lack much of meetin' at the back of his head. In one of 'em was a rowin' machine. He set the thing on the floor and commenced pretendin' to row same's if he'd bin on the river, me standin' by, 'mazed, watchin' of him."

"Splendid exercise!" pants he.

"Splendid exercise for developin' of the muscles and makin' of the perfect man!"

"Jonathan, I ventures one day when he was rowin' fit to kill and the sun outside burnin' the wheat fields to a crisp, 'don't you think 'twould be jest every bit and grain as good exercise to git on the thrashin' machine and thrash away at that there wheat awhile? It's goin' to the dogs,' I adds, 'actually goin' to the dogs for a little tondin'!' And I could a' cried, thinkin' of 'em."

"Yes, ma," answers he, lookin' up bright and smilin'—there ain't no more amiable lad livin' than my Jonathan—I will by and by."

"But that was all there was to it. He kept right on with the rowin' till the wheat crop was past savin' and gone."

"There was another thing that worried me. I ain't, to say, overparticular 'bout the way people dress, but the way Jonathan took to goin' 'bout in his bathin' suit from dawn to sundown, so's he could be good and ready to climb greased pole at a minit's notice or the himself in a double bowknot and wrench himself apart ag'in, jest 'scaped lein' scandalous. That's what it did! It was all right in his room with the door shut, but he got so 'sorbed in his physical culticher he didn't seem to care no more 'bout how he looked anywhere."

"There was Ann Livingston. She come over to make me a little visit one day, settin' awhile in the dinin' room, where the breeze blows cool through the winder, and what should Jonathan do but pass along the hall in that suit of his'n, lookin' for his dumbbells. Ann threw a perfect man if you've lost him?"

was that shocked she left immediate, goin' hard as she could tear over to see Sam Johnston's wife to tell her about it, and the next time I went to the stable in the basement of the church everybody shied off from me same's if I'd had the plague."

The thread broke again. This time, contrary to all established rules of darning, she knotted it.

"Ump! And extravagant! When he'd bought about everything he could buy in this here town he sent to New York for more poles and bars and straps and trapezes to litter up the house with. And that wasn't all. Pret' soon here come letters—one every mornin', Jonathan, if you please, takin' lessons in physical culticher from Scientific American or other thang in New York! what had run out of everything else to do and gone to teachin' people how to make idiots of them-selves.

"Then, if you could a' seen this house! Directions pasted up every-

"Then I gave him up for good."

Mrs. Simpson took the darning ball out and laid the stocking across her knee, smoothing it thoughtfully with fingers that trembled a little.

"The rest of the story is easy finishin'," resumed she. "Twa'n't long before Jonathan he come to me and says: 'Ma, I'm goin' up to New York for a spell. There are some new things I want to learn about this physical culticher,' addin', his head down ag'in, 'My teacher, she tells me I've made such progress in so short a time'—and no wonder, with the practice he'd had—'she wants to see me,' addin' ag'in in an offhand way, 'She'll give me lessons for nothin' if I'll come, she writes.'

"Tain't no use arguin' with an only son. The best thing to do is to let him have his way in the beginnin'. He'll have it before he's through every time. So I answers back, 'Well, Jonathan, the crops is about ruined now, the fences is all down and the saw is rusty from not cuttin' the wood in that wood pile what's riz so high it's about to burst the roof of the shed, so I s'pose you might as well go and finish up with this makin' a perfect man of yourself? Then I says, 'tryin' not to be more bitter than I oughter be by rights, 'I hope you'll succeed.'

SUICIDE WAS BOOTH

Nephew Claims Actor Escaped Officers Years Ago and Recently Shot Himself At Oned, Oklahoma--Ritter's Story Recalled.

Enid, Okla., June 3—Junius Brutus Booth, the actor and nephew of John Wilkes Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, has fully identified the body of the man known as David E. George as his uncle.

George, or Booth, committed suicide here January 14 last, and in his effects was found a letter directed to K. L. Bates of Memphis, Tenn. Mr. Bates came here at once and fully identified the body as John Wilkes Booth.

He then went east and has obtained positive identification of the body from the dead man's nephew and from Joseph Jefferson, Miss Clara Morris and a score of others who knew him in his early days.

According to Mr. Bates' story he had acted as Booth's confidential agent and attorney for nearly forty years. After Lincoln was shot the assassin escaped to the Garrett plantation in Virginia. According to Mr. Bates the man who was killed was named Ruddy.

Being warned, Booth left Garrett's and was taken care of by friends in southern Kentucky. He later settled at Glen Rose Mills, Tex., where he conducted a store for several years as John St. Helen.

Advocate readers will remember the statement published in these columns several years ago, made by C. C. Ritter who at that time was landscape gardener for Messrs. W. C. Wells and Wm. E. Miller. Ritter claimed to have personal knowledge that Booth was alive, that he had made his escape to South America and that he had been in communication with him. Ritter said that Booth had exacted a promise from him not to reveal the fact that he was alive for 30 years.

GILLET

Special With the Buckeye Band on Board, Left for Columbus at 8 a. m.

The special on the Buckeye Lake road carrying the Buckeye Band and a crowd of Gillett boomers, left the depot on the north side of the square promptly at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The car was crowded and there was great enthusiasm among the adherents of the doughty colonel.

A banner running the entire length of the car bore the legend "Gillett for Auditor of State," in letters that could be read at any point where the right of way was visible.

Captain Lon Inscho and C. L. H. Long had charge of the train of excursionists, and it is certain that the convention will know that Colonel Gillett is a candidate.

The soldiers pitched camp Monday night while on the road.

An advance detail has been in camp for several days, and when the battalion arrived everything was in readiness for them. The men took a good rest and Wednesday began target practice on the rifle range, using the Krag Jorgensen rifles at various ranges up to 1000 yards.

The Second battalion is in command of Captain McRae, and consists of four companies of the Third regiment.

As soon as their practice is finished they will be followed by the First and Third battalions in order.

Apollo's Favorite Instrument.

Apollo was the old god of music, and his favorite instrument, the lyre, was invented by Mercury. When the latter was four hours old he found the shell of a tortoise and made it into a lyre with nine strings in honor of the nine muses. This instrument Mercury gave to Apollo, who became a wonderful player upon it. The lyre was used by the Greeks in olden times, and from it was fashioned the harp.

MR. FREINER

FORGIVES DAUGHTER AND EXTENDS HIS BLESSING

In a Letter to the Advocate He Explains His Connection With the Affairs.

The Advocate is in receipt of a self-explanatory letter from A. R. Freiner, father of Miss Iva Freiner whose attempt at suicide and subsequent marriage in Covington, Ky., have been printed before in this paper.

The letter dated June 2, at Short Creek, West Virginia, follows:

On account of the publicity that my name has received in a most sensational affair, in which my daughter acted in a fit of madness, because she was chastised by me on Sunday evening, May 24th, I very seriously regret asking you space in your paper to say anything more upon this subject. However I wish it understood by my friends that I only acted as a father should, who cares for his children, in trying to advise my daughter in her tender years. She was very young, and Mr. Dickinson or Morrison, whichever it may be proper to call him, being young also, I very seriously objected to his keeping company with my daughter with a view to matrimony. It looked very strong in that direction when he sought, and did have her company, seven nights in each week for the past three months. When I returned home on May 23rd, I was informed of some matters concerning them, which I considered demanded an explanation. In so doing, they indignantly refused to make any and would not listen to anything I said to them. The result was that my daughter would not obey, when I requested her to come into the house, but instead made a start for the creek, and broke away from my grasp, with a full determination of taking her own life, and only for kind and willing hands would have done so. Had I not cared for my daughter's welfare, I presume this would not have happened. I think this affair is without a precedent in our quiet city.

I make this statement for publication that the public may know the facts, and if I am to be censured for this, I want to make it known in its true light and let the public pass its own decision. I never knew of the young man having any bibulous habits, but age, indolence and two frequent visits was my objections.

As this disgraceful escapade has terminated in matrimony I can forgive the waywardness of my daughter, and may they ever, after all this, be blessed with happiness and prosperity. I congratulate them though many nities away.

I trust this article will suffice, as far as any further publicity is concerned in our family. Thanking you in advance for this space, I respectfully submit this article for publication.

A. R. FREINER.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

Since the publication of the announcement in the Advocate last week of the special car for the Licking county delegates to the State Sunday School Convention at Portsmouth June 8, 10 and 11, a change has been made in the time of leaving. Since the N. & W. are going to run a special train to Portsmouth on Tuesday June 9, the party will not go down on June 8 as advertised, but will leave Newark at 9:05 a. m., June 9, and make connection with the N. & W. special at Columbus, which leaves there at 10 a. m. All delegates are expected to take dinner with them as the party will pass the noon hour on the train, and it is desired to make the trip as enjoyable as possible. See last week's Advocate for particulars or write to the County Secretary, C. W. Shinn, Granville, O.

A Surprise Party.

Mrs. Charles Seigle of South Second street was the victim of a delightful surprise on Tuesday evening. The event was carefully and successfully planned by Mrs. Seigle's friends and neighbors to celebrate her forty-first birthday anniversary. Early in the evening, Mrs. Seigle was called to the home of Mrs. E. W. Showman until the self-invited guests had gathered at her home, and upon returning she was greatly surprised to find her home invaded by her friends. She soon recovered from the shock and was a pleasant hostess to her friends. Music and games were the amusements for the evening. Refreshments which were brought by the guests, were served. Those present were Mesdames Rugg, Parker, Schmitz, Wolverton, Ritter, Vogelmeier, Weakley, Kettner, Vogel, Hampton, Irwin, Freshier, Bippus, Misses May McKeever, Mae Hanable, Ethel Schmitz, Helen Ritter, Frances and Ella Seigle, Messrs. George McDermott, Al Marriott, Edward Parker, Carl and Fred Wolverton.

An Odd Fish.

One of the oddest fishes that ever swam in any sea is that known to naturalists under the unattractive name of ophiocephalus. A species of it is found in the sea of Galilee, where it builds a nest which for beauty of design and elegance of workmanship excels the efforts of the majority of feathered nest builders. Its favorite spot for building is in an old root or rock projecting under the water, and the material consists of seaweed, grass and leaves.

COLONY OF FASTER.

Plan of E. W. Conable, Who Has Bought 8,000 Acres in Arkansas.

Edgar Wallace Conable, the noted faster and vegetarian, has purchased 8,000 acres of land in Benton county, Ark., in the Ozark mountains, and will plant a colony of food reformers there, says a Colorado Springs dispatch to the Kansas City Times. A corporation with $5,000,000 capitalization will be organized. Schools for physical and mental culture, factories, mills and other enterprises will be established. The land will be divided into small fruit farms and vegetable gardens. The use of meat will be prohibited, also alcoholic stimulants and tobacco. Fruits and vegetables will form the staff of life.

Fasts long or short, as may be required, are to cure the body of ailments, if any exist. The region abounds in fruits of all kinds, also mineral springs, timber, marble, slate, stone and other building material. Conable went to Colorado Springs from Illinois some time ago. He is editor of a monthly magazine, the Pathfinder, and author of various works on food reform. He will begin his colony in August.

A Fifty Mile Logging Road.

The latest important railroad enterprise projected in Maine is a fifty mile logging road running from Katahdin Iron works directly through the deep woods to Chesuncook lake, penetrating a region where there is scarcely a human habitation and not an acre of cleared land, says the Boston Transcript. The Katahdin Iron works branch of the Bangor and Aroostook was built twenty years ago from Brownville to the iron works, a distance of fourteen miles. The iron mining industry failed, and since then the little branch has never paid expenses. It is now to be utilized in the building of the longest and most important logging road in Maine, and interesting developments in the lumbering industry are looked for in that region.

In S. S. will be found purifying and tonic properties combined. It not only builds up weak constitutions, but searches out and destroys germs and poisons of every description and cleanses the system of all impurities, thus laying the foundation for a healthy, steady increase in weight and future good health.

Food may be bountiful and the appetite good, but still the system weakens and we remain poor in flesh unless what we eat is properly digested and turned into rich, pure blood.

S. S. S. re-enforces the Stomach and aids the digestion and assimilation of food, and there is a rapid up-building of health and strength. S. S. S. acts promptly and beneficially upon the nervous system, strengthens and tones it up, and relieves the strain by producing sound, refreshing sleep. You can find no tonic so invigorating as S. S. S., and being composed exclusively of roots and herbs its use is attended with no bad effects. Old people will find that it braces them up, improves the circulation of the blood, and stimulates all the bodily organs, and persons of delicate constitutions can take S. S. S. with safety, as it does not derange the Stomach like the strong mineral remedies, but acts gently and without any shock to the system. Those whose feelings tell them they are not strong or well, and who are growing thinner and falling below their usual weight, should take a course of S. S. S. and build up again. S. S. Clerk at the Speaker's Desk.

The speaker's right hand man is called "clerk at the speaker's desk" and is one of the most useful men in the house of representatives. It is his business to know things, all things; in fact, everything connected with legislation. He must know parliamentary law, precedents of the house and must have them ready at a second's notice, so that they may be cited by the speaker or the chairman how to recognize them when they address the presiding officer. He must know all the secretaries of the president and clerks of the senate, so as to tell the presiding officer where on there is a message from the president or the senate to be received by the house. He keeps the time on men who are addressing the house, and the "hammer" falls when he says that a man has consumed his allotted time. WILD WEST SHOW.

A portrayal of life as it is and as it has been enacted on the plains of the West will be seen in Newark on Tuesday, June 9. Pawnee Bill's Wild West Exhibition is a show that has pleased thousands upon thousands of people in this country, and is credited as giving a faithful reproduction of frontier life and primitive features of the peoples its contingent represents.

With this show is Lone Wolf, a Cherokee Indian, son of Black Horse, who was in the terrible fight that resulted in the massacre of General Custer and his entire command. On the anniversary of the massacre, some time ago, the terrible scene was enacted by a mock battle in which more than 1500 Indians took part against several companies of United States troops. In some manner Lone Wolf received word that the sham fight was to take place and he asked permission to leave the show that he might take part in it. This he was not permitted to do, and while in Berlin last week, as a mark of courage and to demonstrate that he was a brave, he stabbed himself in the breast and had to be cared for by a surgeon. He is one of the best expert bow and arrow shooters known.

BARBER SHOPS

DECLARED UNFAIR BY LOCAL UNION.

Newark Union Objects to New Rules Posted by Boss Barbers—Cause of the Trouble.

Three of the most prominent barber shops in the city were Tuesday afternoon declared unfair by the local barbers' union, and the union workmen in these shops quit work.

The trouble arose between the journeymen's union and the boss barbers' association. Last week the latter caused to be displayed in their shops a placard on which were printed a set of rules for the government of the shop. Among these rules was one that all tips should be turned over as shop money, another that two nights after the arrival of the B. & O. pay checks the shops shall remain open until 9 o'clock, and others which the union claims interfere with the by-laws of their organization.

A committee asked each proprietor if he intended to enforce the objectionable rules. Three replied that they did and the union shop card was taken by the committee from Knauber Bros., John M. Ankele and Lyons & Miller.

The other shops repudiated the rules and stood by the union.

Another rule which local union 114 claims is in direct contravention of their by-laws, is one which says that the shop shall close at noon on legal holidays. The journeymen barbers say that Christmas and Fourth of July they want all day, and on other holidays the shop shall close at 11 o'clock. Labor Day is agreed upon as an all day holiday.

At the Paris municipal pawn house about 350,000 watches and 60,000 wedding rings are deposited every year.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Granville, O., June 3—The Andersonville prison meeting held this morning at 8 o'clock in the M. E. church, was not as well attended as was expected, but was a success in every other respect. Rev. T. J. Sheppard, who was chaplain in Andersonville prison and who is the life chaplain of the Ex-Prisoners Association of Ohio, conducted the services just as he conducted

The members of the ex-Prisoners' Association are unanimous in saying that the Granville reunion has been the most successful one yet held and their appreciation is shown by the number of Granville members who were elected to office.

Tuesday Evening.

Tuesday evening, long before the hour for the exercises to begin, the Opera House was packed to its utmost capacity, and many people were turned away being unable to gain admittance. Mankind is so constituted that the most heroic deeds do not appear so great until the mists of the past gather about them, and the distance of the long ago lands enchantment to the view. So the privations, horrors and hardships that the ex-prisoners of war endured, appear with even more effulgent light to the people of today than they have in the past. And especially is this true with the younger people, as was evidenced by the large number present at the meeting on Tuesday night.

Shortly after seven o'clock President Durfey called the meeting to order.

The first thing on the program was the "Assembly Bugle Call," by Comrade E. Hite. As the clear notes of the bugle pealed forth the thoughts of many of the old comrades were diverted and they were back in camp again, living over the old days. It was a very pleasing feature of the evening and was much enjoyed by all.

The Newark Veteran Drum Corps under the leadership of Drum Major Frank Browne, then rendered a patriotic air which was followed by a prayer by Rev. Dr. Work.

This was followed by the singing of a choice selection by the Shepardson quartette, which was enthusiastically received, and for an encore the young ladies rendered "Old Black Joe," which brought down the house.

A piano duet by Misses Mary Tuttle and Grace Wells was the next number on the program and the young ladies acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner and to the great pleasure of the audience.

Miss Lista A. Gell then rendered a solo, "My Country Dear," which was very clever, and which wrought the old soldiers up to a high pitch of enthusiasm.
